

Wycliffe Canada's
RACE TO 2025
The adventure fundraising race with eternal impact

Wycliffe Canada's
RACE TO 2025
The adventure fundraising race with eternal impact

Wycliffe Canada's
RACE TO 2025
The adventure fundraising race with eternal impact

Summit
a mountain

Summit
a mountain

Summit
a mountain

Ice climb a waterfall

Ice climb a waterfall

Ice climb a waterfall

Snowshoe frozen creeks

Snowshoe
frozen creeks

Snowshoe
frozen
creeks

Discover a hidden village

Discover a hidden village

Discover a hidden village

India

India

India

Cameroon

Cameroon

Cameroon

Peru II

Peru II

Peru II

Sudan

Sudan

Sudan

Asia

Asia

Asia

Ghana

Ghana

Ghana

Congo

Congo

Congo

February 10-12, 2012 • February 17-19, 2012
wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

February 10-12, 2012 • February 17-19, 2012
wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

February 10-12, 2012 • February 17-19, 2012
wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

The Andes Challenge!

Race to 2025: Peru II

Frontier Lodge, Nordegg, Alberta, Canada

College Winter Challenge

February 10-12, 2012

February 17-19, 2012 (Family Day Long Weekend)

Coed teams of four register and compete in all events. Intermediate fitness level recommended

Registration

Early Bird Special until December 18, 2011

$210.00/person = $840.00/team (including GST)

Regular Registration

$230.00/person = $920.00/team (including GST)

Registration closes January 22, 2012

Fundraising – Closing in on the Finish Line!

Teams commit to raise a minimum of $2,000/team ($500/ racer). Funds raised are for the East Apurímac Quechua translation. High in the Andes Mountains of southern Peru live 200,000 East Apurímac Quechua people, isolated from their countrymen. Though there are many Spanish-speaking churches and Spanish Bibles, the East Apurimac Quechua do not benefit from them. Few Quechua speak Spanish well; plus they lack an important tool to break the language barriers—literacy.

An innovative approach is changing the destiny of these people. AIDIA, a local organization, led by local Quechua pastors and church leaders, is leading the translation of the Scriptures into their own language. They are heading for the finish line! Literacy is a core initiative in their project to widely promote the use of these Scriptures.

Great prizes are awarded for most money raised, first place team, and linguistic challenge.

Let's Make It Happen!

To register your team or to become a sponsor,
go to www.wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

The Adventure Fundraising Race With Eternal Impact!

The Andes Challenge!

Race to 2025: Peru II

Frontier Lodge, Nordegg, Alberta, Canada

College Winter Challenge

February 10-12, 2012

February 17-19, 2012 (Family Day Long Weekend)

Coed teams of four register and compete in all events. Intermediate fitness level recommended

Registration

Early Bird Special until December 18, 2011

$210.00/person = $840.00/team (including GST)

Regular Registration

$230.00/person = $920.00/team (including GST)

Registration closes January 22, 2012

Fundraising – Closing in on the Finish Line!

Teams commit to raise a minimum of $2,000/team ($500/ racer). Funds raised are for the East Apurímac Quechua translation. High in the Andes Mountains of southern Peru live 200,000 East Apurímac Quechua people, isolated from their countrymen. Though there are many Spanish-speaking churches and Spanish Bibles, the East Apurimac Quechua do not benefit from them. Few Quechua speak Spanish well; plus they lack an important tool to break the language barriers—literacy.

An innovative approach is changing the destiny of these people. AIDIA, a local organization, led by local Quechua pastors and church leaders, is leading the translation of the Scriptures into their own language. They are heading for the finish line! Literacy is a core initiative in their project to widely promote the use of these Scriptures.

Great prizes are awarded for most money raised, first place team, and linguistic challenge.

Let's Make It Happen!

To register your team or to become a sponsor,
go to www.wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

The Adventure Fundraising Race With Eternal Impact!

The Andes Challenge!

Race to 2025: Peru II

Frontier Lodge, Nordegg, Alberta, Canada

College Winter Challenge

February 10-12, 2012

February 17-19, 2012 (Family Day Long Weekend)

Coed teams of four register and compete in all events. Intermediate fitness level recommended

Registration

Early Bird Special until December 18, 2011

$210.00/person = $840.00/team (including GST)

Regular Registration

$230.00/person = $920.00/team (including GST)

Registration closes January 22, 2012

Fundraising – Closing in on the Finish Line!

Teams commit to raise a minimum of $2,000/team ($500/ racer). Funds raised are for the East Apurímac Quechua translation. High in the Andes Mountains of southern Peru live 200,000 East Apurímac Quechua people, isolated from their countrymen. Though there are many Spanish-speaking churches and Spanish Bibles, the East Apurimac Quechua do not benefit from them. Few Quechua speak Spanish well; plus they lack an important tool to break the language barriers—literacy.

An innovative approach is changing the destiny of these people. AIDIA, a local organization, led by local Quechua pastors and church leaders, is leading the translation of the Scriptures into their own language. They are heading for the finish line! Literacy is a core initiative in their project to widely promote the use of these Scriptures.

Great prizes are awarded for most money raised, first place team, and linguistic challenge.

Let's Make It Happen!

To register your team or to become a sponsor,
go to www.wycliffe.ca/raceto2025

The Adventure Fundraising Race With Eternal Impact!