

Greetings from Wycliffe Canada,

“A historic moment in the life of the Church.” That’s how one speaker described the unprecedented unity of local evangelical churches at the April 2013 dedication of the Eastern Apurímac Quechua New Testament.

And since the spring of last year, 25 other historic moments have taken place around the world, celebrating 7.4 million people’s access to Scriptures which have been translated with Wycliffe involvement. I am humbled by God’s goodness to Wycliffe Canada, and grateful to you, our partner, for supporting Bible translation. On behalf of our entire staff, thank you.

Encouraged by your generous support and another year of staff growth, Wycliffe Canada once again stands ready to serve the Canadian Church, connecting Christians across the country to Bible translation projects, and ultimately, the historic moments which will define the eternal destiny of entire communities. So, I would be remiss if I did not offer you the same opportunity to increase your involvement in this work. As the harvest is still plentiful, and the workers are still too few, would you prayerfully consider increasing your support of Bible translation?

We look forward to another year of serving with you. If we can assist you with updates, information or prayer, please let us know.

With great appreciation,

Roy Eyre
President
